I have a dream

Art is really important in our lives. It motivates us to do something and helps us with our problems. Music, theatre, painting... it's all like a different world. We feel more confident due to it. Art often makes us proud of our country. It not only keeps us amused but also teaches us how to live well.

I think that in the future art will be more appreciated. We will be much better than now. We will help each other disinterestedly and love each other. We will accept our bodies, origin, colour of skin, beliefs. We must realize that art can partly help us with it. All we ought to do is to propagate "good" art and disapprove "bad" art, which demoralizes our society. That is why I think that people will be good, tolerant and united. We can survive and change our world for better if we will listen to each other. So we should invest in art, which popularizes our good ideas all over the world.
